Additional ACS 2002 Data Released

The U.S. Census Bureau this week released an additional 700+ tables from the 2002 American Community Survey and Supplementary Survey on the American Fact Finder Web site. You may find these data at American Fact Finder.

http://factfinder.census.gov/servlet/DatasetMainPageServlet?_program=ACS&_lang=en&_ts=87226283750

Among the tables are race iterations of some of the 109 core tables released last Sept. 3.

ACS 2002 PUMS Data Released

Public Use Microdata Sample (PUMS) files for states also were released via the Internet. These files may be found on the ACS Web site at the following link.

<http://www.census.gov/acs/www/Products/PUMS/pums2002.htm>.

The PUMS are aimed at data users who want to create do-it-yourself tabulations.

ACS 2000-2001 CD-ROMs Still Available

CD-ROMs containing the 2000-2001 ACS data are still available free of charge from the Census Bureau. Simply call (301) 763-INFO (4636) to order.

The ACS data for a sample of more than 700,000 households surveyed in the 2000 and 2001 supplementary surveys are included on the CD-ROM, as well as the data for the 31 ACS test sites.

The ACS is a key component in the Census Bureau's re-engineered 2010 Census; the other components are early planning and modernization of geographic operations.
